About Me

I'm a versatile web developer and programmer with a robust foundation in web development, coding, and software design. My proficiency extends to technologies such as Frappe, Laravel, and MySQL, as well as frontend technologies like HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I am more efficient in frontend development, enabling me to create comprehensive and efficient user experience. Coupled with strong time management and deadline-setting skills, I am well-equipped to deliver significant results in both technical and creative projects.
